

BECAUSE KNOWING OUR ENVIRONMENT IS EVERYONE'S BUSINESS

Environmental Reporting that doesn't cost the earth!

Manufacturing businesses are under increasing pressure to enhance their service, improve their sustainability and set themselves out against the competition.

Credibly Green fill this need.

What's in it for you?

Commercial Advantage

Clients value working with companies with good CSR. It provides a strong PR opportunity and improved scores when bidding for contracts.

Environmental Advantage

Measuring and improving green impacts is good for the environment, often saves money, and is a positive message for customers, staff and prospective employees.

"Sustainability is now a factor that no firm, whatever its size, can afford to ignore."

Economia

"The heavy commitments made by larger firms do not mean that smaller practices cannot and should not reduce their carbon footprint."

Desmond Hudson, Law Society Chief Executive.

"We couldn't believe it, with one simple change to our energy supply structure we could achieve almost carbon neutral on-site activities. And to top it all... we could save money in the process."

Mark Burnett, Burlen Ltd

You can only be Credibly Green if you measure and understand your businesses environmental impact.

Credibly Green have developed an environmental reporting system which uses utility and waste data to derive carbon performance. It has added features which allow you to broaden the environmental report to include other aspects such as energy use, transport use etc. and tailor it to your requirements.

The tool is designed to be a low cost service (£425 + VAT) to measure, improve and champion a customers environmental performance. Providing an independent measure of performance and advice to improve and potentially benchmark environmental impacts leading to environmental and commercial advantage.

We take your information and apply industry recognised conversion factors to generate a bespoke Carbon Emissions Report for your company.

Credibly Green believe in the power and difference businesses can make....*

“It is not necessarily about where you are starting from, but more about understanding where the impacts are, with information to enable effective decision making that will ultimately move your business forwards sustainably.” Paul Frith, Director.
